Five Star Convenience Store Chain to give away 63 Ipod Nano's for Christmas

The Newcomb Oil Company, in their 83rd year, is giving away Ipod Nano's to lucky winners at each of their 63 locations across Kentucky, Southern Indiana and Illinois.

"The promo has been very well received by our customers, and they actually look forward to it every year." states Jim Gorby, Food Service Coordinator for Newcomb Oil, parent Company of Five Star Food Marts. "We have partnered with John Conti Coffee Company every year to bring something special to our Customers and thank them for their business."

The Ipod give away runs from November 23rd till December 21st. Anyone who goes into a 5 Star Food Mart may ask for a registration slip, no purchase necessary. However, if you purchase a 24oz coffee or cappuccino, or a 32oz. fountain drink, you will receive an additional 5 chances to win.

"We are proud to be part of Five Star's promo, and their partner in this wonderful Holiday Tradition" says Jackie Freeman of John Conti Coffee Co. "They are a great Company to work with."

Newcomb Oil Co. is a progressive family-owned company founded in 1924, in Bardstown, Nelson County, Kentucky. Today, Newcomb Oil Co. owns and operates over sixty convenience stores in twenty-six communities in Central and Western Kentucky, southern Indiana and southern Illinois, under the Five Star logo. The operation of these food marts has been favorable because of the successful business relationship with major petroleum marketers and retail suppliers. In all its operations, Newcomb Oil Co. employs about eight hundred persons, with headquarters still in Bardstown. In 1997, the Bardstown-Nelson County Chamber of Commerce presented to Newcomb Oil Co. its first "Corporate Citizen of the Year" award.
